People and Population

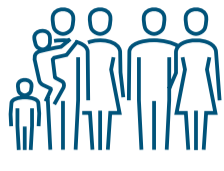

Boyne Island Tannum Sands

A short drive south from Gladstone is the picturesque coastal communities of Boyne Island and Tannum Sands. Boyne Island and Tannum Sands residents have a relaxed coastal lifestyle centred on superb beaches, riverside walkways, parklands and recreational activities.

With a population of close to 10,000, these 'twin' communities are linked by a bridge across the beautiful Boyne River. Boyne Island offers a quality mix of residential, business, shopping, industry and environment where foreshore parks overlook boats, outrigger crews and fishing on the calm river waters.

The island is also home to Australia's largest Aluminium Smelter operated by Rio Tinto and employs 1,300 people to produce up to 558,000 tonnes of aluminium per year.
